Re: Consent for commercial distribution of RawFileRdr

Dear Tobias,

The Software License Agreement for RawFileRdr (EULA), FORM-0459 Rev A, restricts commercial exploitation of the RawFileRdr software ("Software"). Commercial exploitation includes, but is not limited to, charging a purchase price, license fee, maintenance fee, subscription fee, or licensing, transferring or redistributing the Software in exchange for consideration of any kind.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, you have requested our consent to allow your organization to distribute the Software.

We hereby grant your organization permission to distribute the Software as part of your organization's commercial software product, RawDiag, provided that (i) your customers must comply with the terms of the EULA; (ii) our consent to your organization may not be transferred or assigned for any reason. Please note that we may terminate the rights granted in this letter for any reason upon thirty (30) days written notice to you. Please have an authorized representative of your organization sign below to indicate acceptance of the terms contained in this consent letter and return the fully executed letter to us for our files.

Best regards,
